Registration Fee: $40.00

Government contractors have unique challenges with respect to compliance with employment and labor laws generally, and specific obligations imposed by Executive Orders requirements arising from federal contracts. Existing and proposed regulations put government contractors in the spotlight. Compliance is critical to every contractor's business plan.

A first step in this ever-changing legal landscape is identifying actions contractors should consider taking now. Join attorneys from Jackson Lewis for a half day of interactive discussions and practical solutions addressing the latest developments in workplace laws and requirements. Come with questions, leave with a plan.

This unique, fast-paced, advanced level seminar is geared towards in-house counsel, management and HR professionals.

Topics Covered:

- Understanding and Preparing for Compliance with the Fair Pay and Safe Workplaces ("Blacklisting") Executive Order
- Top Compliance Challenges with The Service Contract Act and Federal Minimum Wage for Federal Contractors Executive Order
- Disability, Leave & Health Management: Navigating Increasingly Complex Leave Laws
- Corporate Compliance, Ethics Requirements, and the False Claims Act
- How the New Ban-the-Box Laws Impact the Hiring Practices of Government Contractors
- Strategies for Handling Workplace Violence Concerns
