Join a multi-disciplinary team of attorneys from Jackson Lewis P.C. for a review of 2019 and what employers should be aware of in 2020.

2019 brought new hurdles and key developments for California employers. We will review new laws, including AB 5 (on the classification of independent contractors), discuss important federal and California cases, decisions from the National Labor Relations Board impacting union and non-union employers and private attorney general act claims. We will also analyze key issues such as wage statements, leave management, potentially costly wage and hour matters and arbitration agreements.

This session is designed to help in-house counsel, management and HR professionals prepare for the coming year.
