Jason Kaner is an associate in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, office of Jackson Lewis P.C. His practice focuses on the representation of employers and management in connection with a wide array of workplace and employment issues at the federal court, state court, and administrative agency levels. Jason has broad litigation experience in prosecuting and defending actions involving noncompetition agreements, restrictive covenants, and trade secrets.

Jason also dedicates a substantial portion of his practice to litigation prevention by advising and counseling employers of all sizes on workplace policies, employee discipline, internal complaints and investigations, and disability and leave management issues.

While in law school, Jason served as a law clerk for the National Football League, assisting the NFL Management Council in arbitration proceedings and other labor relations matters.
