Rebecca Kim is of counsel in the Los Angeles, California, office of Jackson Lewis P.C. With extensive litigation experience, she is committed to defending employers with integrity and achieving optimal results for her clients. Her practice is centered on representing employers in complex workplace law matters, offering both preventive advice and counseling.

Rebecca has substantial expertise in managing all phases of civil litigation in both federal and state courts. Her experience spans discovery, depositions, motion practice, settlement negotiations, mediation and disputes in arbitration, as well as proceedings before state administrative agencies such as the Civil Rights Department (CRD) and the Division of Labor Standards Enforcement (DLSE). She adeptly represents employers in single plaintiff litigation and defends companies against wage and hour class actions and California Private Attorneys General Act (PAGA) representative actions.
