Anthony Blake is an associate in the Portland, Oregon office of Jackson Lewis P.C. He represents and advises employers on a variety of workplace issues with a particular focus on companies and organizations operating in the sports, media, and entertainment industries. He represents clients in litigation involving breach of contract, noncompete issues, discrimination, harassment, retaliation, and wage and hour violations. Anthony also counsels clients on compliance, risk management, and policy development.

Drawing on his background as a Division I athlete and his experience representing commercial entities and professional athletes, Anthony brings a competitive mindset and industry insight to every matter. His work also includes advising on issues related to collegiate athletics and athlete name, image, and likeness (NIL) rights.

Anthony graduated from Lewis & Clark Law School and is a member of the Cornelius Honor Society.
