Thomas L. Petriccione is an associate in the White Plains, New York, office of Jackson Lewis P.C. His practice focuses on representing employers in workplace law matters, including preventive advice and counseling. Partnering with clients, he strives to address issues at any point in the employment relationship from hire through separation.

Thomas counsels employers of varying sizes and across industries in a wide range of labor and employment matters, including union grievances, representational campaigns, NLRB trials and other traditional labor matters.

In addition, Thomas works with human resources professionals and in-house counsel to prepare and file immigrant and non-immigrant employment visa petitions, including, among others, EB, L, H, O, and TN visas.

While attending law school, he was a Notes and Articles Editor of the Fordham Intellectual Property, Media & Entertainment Law Journal and participated in the Mediation Clinic out of the historic Bronx County Courthouse.
