MaryAnne Quill is an associate in the St. Louis, Missouri, office of Jackson Lewis P.C.

With a strong focus on litigation, MaryAnne has successfully represented clients in jury trials in both federal and state courts across Missouri and Illinois, obtaining favorable verdicts for her clients in wage and hour and discrimination claims in 2021 and 2022. MaryAnne has also successfully represented clients through summary judgment, disposing of claims before ever reaching a jury.

MaryAnne understands that a strong legal defense starts before litigation even begins. Prior to her employment at Jackson Lewis, MaryAnne represented employees in various workplace matters. She uses this unique perspective and understanding to help employers anticipate risks and navigate tough employment decisions, minimizing her legal exposure and ensuring her clients are positioned for success in the event of litigation.

MaryAnne is also a member of the firm's Healthcare industry group and Disability, Leave and Health Management and Wage and Hour practice groups. In 2018, MaryAnne obtained a Health Law Certificate from Saint Louis University School of Law, providing additional knowledge and insight into the complex issues that those in the healthcare industry may face.
