Lynlee Wells Palmer is a principal and the office litigation manager in the Birmingham, Alabama, office at Jackson Lewis, P.C. Employers of all sizes rely on Lynlee for proactive strategies and strong policies to manage employee-related issues with minimal disruption to business operations. Partnering with employers to provide business-oriented solutions throughout the lifecycle of the employment relationship, she delivers practical solutions for charges of discrimination and retaliation, harassment, wage and hour issues, employee leave issues, employment policies and procedures, non-compete agreements, and employee discipline and termination.

Lynlee provides strategic legal advice for unionized employers navigating collective bargaining, grievance arbitrations, and unfair labor practice charges. Lynlee represents employers before the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Department of Labor, the National Labor Relations Board and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Skilled at proactive risk management and litigation avoidance, Lynlee partners with her clients to understand their specific needs. For her healthcare clients, for example, she provides guidance on employee issues associated with state and federal survey issues and plans of correction, balancing employee, patient and provider rights.
